A Witty Answer to Bathrooms, Agape Collection

Colored liquid soap in linger bags, changeable shower, geometrically-shaped faucets, and curvy washing basins are not the most typical things to be found in any bathrooms.

Founded in 1973, Agape upgraded the bathroom as an aesthetic space from a auxiliary functional space to provide for everyday family sanitation. The two designers Emanuele and Giampaolo Benedini introduced the new concepts of space and material into the bathrooms and created the concept of 're-styling' home sanitary spaces. The colorful liquid soap Gerber, changeable shower Chiocciola, and beautifully-curved Gabbiano basin are a few of their success. Giampaolo Benedini's implementation of colors and materials add to the amalgamation of elegance and natural beauty of the collections.

In the past decades, Agape has been selecting and nurturing both established and newly-emerging young designers through commissions and providing technical supports for the realization of ideas. Agape's product catalogues since 25 years of its first publication has been the records of the firm's stern effort to create bathroom space that conveys humor and wit ideas through comfort and beauty.
